LIABILITY REPORTER

SUBJECT INDEX - 1984

All articles and cases are classified in one of the categories below. At the end of each article is an alpha-numeric notation, i.e., B-3 or J-2. Subscribers are able to establish and maintain an on-going reference file by using the categorical or numeric system. Although there may be variations on issues classified into each category they are specific enough so that an individual will be able to determine the appropriate category where information is most likely to be found. Cross references will continue to be used, but each case/article has a single primary classification which indicates the principal issue discussed.

EXAMPLE: A question arises about whether a county government can be liable for using police dogs. The appropriate category to refer to is ASSAULT AND BATTERY: DOGS or B-5 (a cross reference to GOVERNMENTAL LIABILITY: LOCAL GOVERNMENT, H-3, is also likely) to ascertain if NELE has reported any articles or cases on this issue.
